

ClearSonic Drum Shield Panels

Description

ClearSonic Drum Shield Panels provide acoustic separation between instruments on stage or in the studio. This helps reduce drum bleed into vocal or instrument microphones and lowers stage volume so that everyone can hear themselves better. Our durable, full-length transparent hinge allows our systems to fold “accordion style” for easy transport and storage. There are no gaps between panels for sound to escape. Made from a high-quality, ¼-inch thick clear acrylic with cable cutouts between all panels.

There are a large variety of ClearSonic Panel package offerings (see Measurements Chart on next page). Packages vary from 2' high up to 5'6" high with extra height extenders available. Each panel set folds to a standard 2' width for easy portability. Packages range from 4' to 14' wide when expanded.
